TRUMPET

“In the period of Rome Republic, Tribune was established with sacrosanct right and power to protect and speak for plebeians. It not only mitigated the conflicts between the plebeian and patrician magistrate but forward the democracy in Rome Republic.”

Following the conviction and spirits, JUPITER Tribune was built to support and speak for the advanced players through providing the top quality brass instruments and optional playability. The goal is evident in the combining of progressive technology with traditional features and craftsmanship.

All Tribune’s valves and slides are lapped by skilled craftsmen to offer precise quality and smoothly valve operation. The handcrafted bell creates balanced resonance and fully projection. Each Tribune trumpet also includes two sets of piston springs for ideal feel and valve action, and both pearl inlay and all mental finger buttons for aesthetics and feel.

The engraved bell and high texture finger ring, hook and decorated trims also express the aesthetic of Tribune. With the uninterrupted timbre and excellence features, JUPITER Tribune is the instrument that always speaks for players and empowers their further progress.
